Utah Travel Tips

Utah has something for everyone. Whether your tastes run to thrill-seeking adventures, an afternoon at an opera matinee, or a stroll through an art museum, it's all here and waiting for you. What follows is a brief listing of traveling tips while visiting Utah. Welcome!

Utah Laws

Drivers License Requirements: The minimum driving age in Utah is 16. All drivers must have a valid drivers license. Visitors from other states or countries may drive in Utah as long as they have a current drivers license and are at least 16.

Speed Limits: On most highways, the speed limit is 55 miles per hour, particularly in urban areas. Speed limits increase to 65 or 75 miles per hour on Interstate highways and 65 miles per hour on some state highways. These increased speeds are only allowed where they are clearly posted. Transition zones from one speed limit to another are indicated with pavement markings and additional signs.

Turning Right on a Red Light: Right turns are allowed on a red light after the vehicle has come to a complete stop, except where signs prohibit it.

Helmet Use and Seat Belt Laws: The driver of a car, front seat passenger, and all children under ten years old, regardless of their position in the car, are required by Utah law to use seat belts. Children under the age of two are required to be in federally approved safety seats. Helmet use is mandatory for motorcyclists and passengers under the age of 18.

For More Information: Contact the Utah Department of Motor Vehicles, (801) 965-4518 or the Utah Highway Patrol, (801) 297-7780.

Getting To and Around Utah

Utah is located in the western United States. Northern Utah is generally considered a part of the Rocky Mountain states. Climate and landscape makes southern Utah more closely aligned with the southwestern U.S.

Air Travel

Utah is accessible from cities across the United States via Salt Lake City International Airport. From Salt Lake City, regional airlines serve cities all over the state and across the southwest. For more information, contact a travel agent or the Salt Lake International Airport, (801) 575-2400.

Railroad Travel

In Northern Utah, Amtrak makes daily stops at Salt Lake City. The line also has service to Ogden (north of Salt Lake) and Provo (to the south). In Eastern and Southeastern Utah there is service to Helper and Thompson Springs. Amtrak trains also stop in Milford in Southwestern Utah. Contact: (800) 872-7245.

Bus Service

Greyhound Bus Lines access several Utah cities and towns. In Northern Utah, buses make regular stops in Provo, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Brigham and Logan. In Eastern Utah, Greyhound runs to Vernal and Price . Heading to Southwestern Utah on I-15, the bus line makes stops in Beaver, Parowan, Cedar City and St. George. Contact: (800) 231-2222.

The Utah Transit Authority has service to Northern Utah's major cities from Provo north to Ogden, including extensive coverage in the Salt Lake Valley. In winter, specially equipped buses make daily trips to the ski resorts near Salt Lake City. Contact: (801) 287-4636.

Light Rail

A light rail system designed for commuter travel will provide access to Salt Lake City and vicinity. The system begins operating in 2000.

Exploring Utah By Car

Major Roads

Interstate-15 slices through Utah, north to south, from Idaho to Arizona and Nevada.

Interstate-80 crosses the northern part of the state from Wyoming, running west into Nevada.

Interstate-84 runs northwest toward Idaho from Echo Junction near the Wyoming border.

US-6 / US-191 is the major route through the eastern and southeastern portions of the state.

Interstate-70 runs west from Colorado to a junction with I-15 in Central Utah.

US-666 enters Utah's southeastern corner from Southern Colorado and joins US-191.

Utah is accessible from cities all over the world via Salt Lake International Airport. From Salt Lake City, regional airlines service cities all over the state and across the southwest. For more information, contact a travel agent or the Salt Lake International Airport, (801) 575-2400.

Welcome Centers

For the convenience of visitors traveling the state by vehicle, Utah has five gateway Welcome Centers. They are located just off freeway exits at key entry points to the state and provide free travel information, restrooms, and pay phones.

I-15 south bound near Brigham City in Northern Utah, (435) 744-5567.

I-80 west bound near Echo Junction

Utah's Liquor Laws

Utah's liquor laws are a bit different, but easy to understand:

- You must be 21 to purchase or consume alcoholic beverages in Utah. Alcoholic beverages (wine, liquor, and beer) are available two ways in Utah: by the drink, or packaged (by the bottle).
- Mixed drinks and wine may be ordered with food in most restaurants from noon to 1 a.m., and beer may be ordered from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. Patrons may be served at their tables or in waiting areas. Wine lists and drink menus are provided only upon request, so you must ask your server for an alcoholic beverage menu.
- Mixed drinks, wine, and beer may be ordered at any of Utah's non-exclusive private clubs on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. and on Sundays and holidays from noon to 1 a.m. You may obtain a drink in a private club with or without food, and patrons may be served at the bar or at tables.
- Although private clubs are primarily for members, most clubs offer temporary "visitor" memberships for a nominal fee (usually $5 for two weeks, which allows the visitor and up to five of her/his guests to use the club).
- Taverns and beer establishments only sell beer. Sales are from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. in a variety of venues: taverns, lounges, cabarets, night clubs, cafes, bowling centers, golf courses, etc. Beer may be purchased without ordering food and is sold on draft and in bottles and cans. Beer sales to go are also allowed, but not in open containers.
- Packaged beer is also available at supermarkets and grocery and convenience stores. The maximum alcohol content is 4 percent by volume or 3.2 percent by weight for beer sold in taverns, beer establishments, and stores.
- Packaged liquor, wine, and heavy beer to go are sold at state liquor stores throughout Utah. Additionally, some of the finest wines in the world are sold at three specialty wine stores in Salt Lake City. State liquor stores accept cash, checks, and credit cards, and are closed on Sundays and holidays.
- Other package agencies are often located in hotels and resorts for customer convenience. Some hotels and resorts offer alcoholic beverages via room service.

Traveler Safety Tips

- Don't answer the door in a lodging room without verifying who it is. If a person claims to be an employee, call the front desk and ask if someone from their staff is supposed to have access to your room and for what purpose.
- When returning to your lodging room late in the evening, use the main entrance of the lodging property. Be observant and look around before entering parking lots.
- Close the doors securely whenever you are in your room, and use all of the locking devices provided.
- Don't needlessly display guest room keys in public or carelessly leave them on restaurant tables, at the swimming pool, or other places where they can be easily stolen.
- Do not draw attention to yourself by displaying large amounts of cash or expensive jewelry.
- Don't invite strangers to your room.
- Place all valuables in lodging property's safe deposit box.
- Do not leave valuables in your vehicle.
- Check to see that any sliding glass doors or windows and any connecting room doors are locked.
- If you see any suspicious activity, please report your observations to the management.

Utah! on the Web

utah.com

With an address like utah.com, internet users have little trouble finding information about Utah. Most of the facts and figures found in this Utah! Accommodations Guide as well as the Utah! Travel Guide are found on our sites utah.com and lodgingutah.com, and make the web a very effective tool for "shopping" for Utah destinations and accessing the most current information about visiting the state.

From utah.com, it's possible to learn specialized information on everything from snow totals at a particular ski resort, to up-coming events, lodging suggestions, and articles on various off-the-beaten-path destinations.

One more thing... the on-line greetings you can send to family and friends are accompanied by incredible images of Utah depicting some of the most beautiful places in the world.

Using This Guide

Accommodations of every sort are available in Utah. It doesn't matter if you're looking for a mountain cabin, a houseboat, a full-service luxury hotel, or a camping spot nestled between rosy sandstone fins, you'll find exactly what you're looking for. Loads of information on hotels, motels, campgrounds, B&Bs, and ranches is contained in this Utah! Accommodations Guide 2000, a welcome companion to the scenic Utah! Travel Guide.

In addition to lodging options, this guide has a detailed listing of Utah's Guides & Outfitters. These professionals offer a huge range of services and guided adventures designed to help you enjoy this beautiful state on a personalized level.

Utah Travel Areas

Utah's landscape bears the imprint of its cities. Around them, mountains, deserts, valleys, and other natural features combine with rivers and trade routes to readily divide the state into travel areas:

- Metro-Wasatch Front
- Northern Utah
- Central Utah
- Eastern Utah
- Southwestern Utah
- Southeastern Utah.

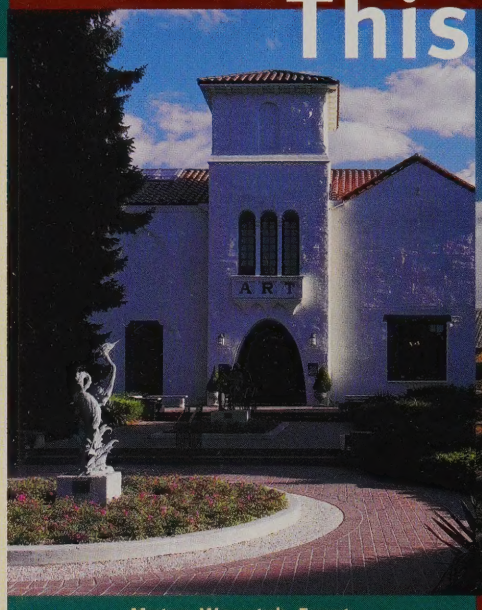
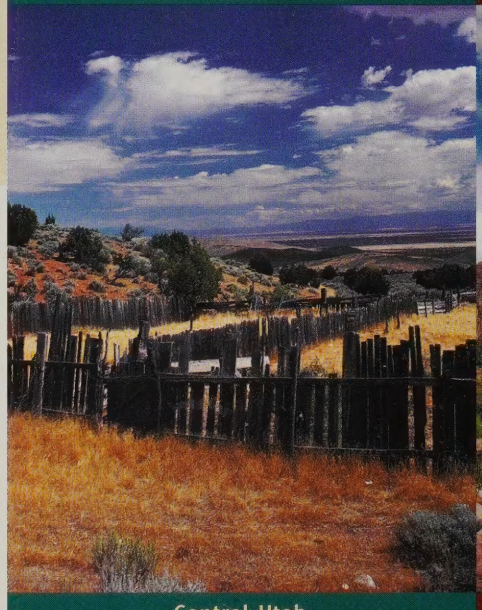
These areas are the means of sorting information in the cities accommodations listings.

For quick referencing of Utah's cities and accommodations, we have divided the state into six travel regions.

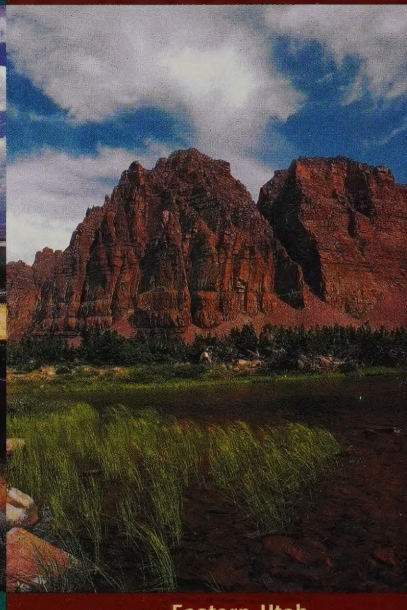


Metro-Wasatch Front

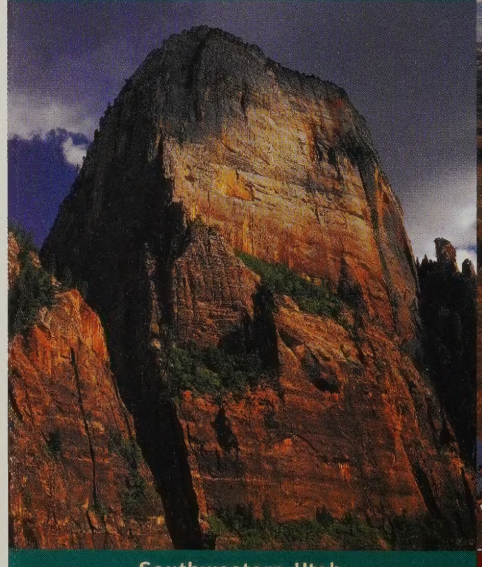
Northern Utah



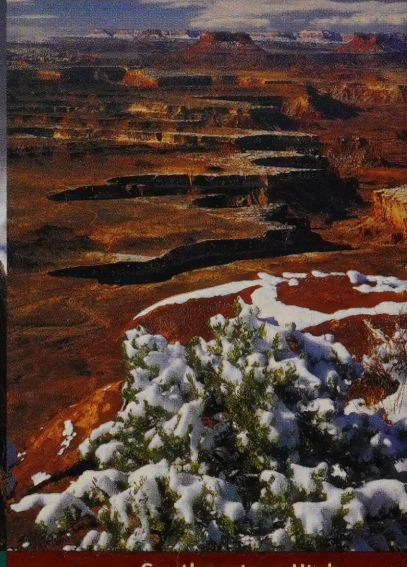
Central Utah



Eastern Utah



Southwestern Utah



Southeastern Utah

Making A Reservation

Contact the lodging property's toll-free reservation number or local phone number to place your reservation. It is always a good idea to make reservations prior to your visit to ensure space availability.

Payment and Cancellations: While making your lodging reservations, be sure to inquire about reservation policies, cancellation policies, and no-shows, as policies vary from property to property. Most hotels require a valid credit card number to hold your reservation prior to check-in.

Confirmation: Many lodging properties will give you a confirmation number for your reservation or will send a confirmation letter. If you do not receive any type of notification, be sure to call the lodging property and reconfirm that your reservations have been made.

Room Rate Changes: Room rate ranges listed in this guide are subject to change without notice. Confirm the room rate at the time you make your reservation to avoid any confusion or misunderstandings at check-in or check-out.

Hotel Room Tax: Tax on your room will vary by city. This should be confirmed when making your reservation along with asking for detailed information on cancellation and refund policies.

Utah's National & State Parks

Wherever you travel in Utah, you are never far from a National or State Park. The culture and character of each is influenced by the surrounding landscape, and recreational opportunities abound. See Utah State Map for locations.

Metro-Wasatch Front

Bounded on the east by the Wasatch Mountains, bisected by I-15, and creeping west toward the Great Salt Lake, the 100-mile-long "Wasatch Front" is a population and industry corridor stretching from Salt Lake City, north to Ogden and south to Provo. The cities of Utah's Wasatch Front are as cosmopolitan as some urban areas twice their size, offering restaurants appealing to the most discriminating palate, and a vibrant arts community that includes the Utah Symphony, Ballet West, Utah Opera Company, Repertory Dance Theater, and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Nearly all of Utah's mountain resorts are nestled in the Wasatch Mountains surrounding this metropolitan corridor. A short drive east of Salt Lake City is Park City, a year-round resort town with three acclaimed ski areas, the Sundance Film Festival, and summer concert series. Some of the finest art galleries in the western United States are found on Park City's Main Street.

A weathered,

old-west atmosphere,

but with cute little soaps

and whatnot.

CONTRAST

Sundance Utah is, without question, a study in contrast. It is rustic, western simplicity, perfectly complimented by 4 star amenities. It is 6,000 acres of unrefined wilderness, and 90 luxury suites. It is people you'd like to meet, without people who want to be seen. It is a hill you can attack on a mountain bike, and, of course, everything you need to wash off the trail.

All Seasons Package 1999

4 nights lodging for two in a Junior or Master Suite

1 Activity Voucher per day per person

Breakfast for two following each night's stay.

— Cost Effective Lodging —

With all there is to do while you're in Utah, why spend so much of your budget on a hotel room? Stay with us and escape the downtown "corporate jungle." You will be surprised at the savings; you'll have more than pocket change left to enjoy our great state. We are just 10 minutes from downtown– you can visit but you don't have to sleep there.

Come up to the east bench where the air is fresh! With seven major ski resorts only 20 to 30 minutes away, you can soon be skiing or riding on the "greatest snow on earth." Just like the bit boys, we have an indoor pool, spa, continental breakfast, and most of all– personalized service. But remember, you won't have to take out a second mortgage to stay with us.

Northern Utah

The beaver trade brought the first white settlers to Northern Utah. Logan's cache valley west of Bear Lake was the site of many mountain man and indian rendezvous in the early 1800s.

Further west in the Great Salt Lake desert, America's first transcontinental railroad was completed near Promontory Point in 1869. You can relive the event at the Golden Spike National Historic Site. While Northern Utah is now home to the largest cities in the state, a wealth of economic activity, and "The Greatest Snow on Earth"™, it is also rich in wildlife and contains the Great Salt Lake, migratory bird refuges, and the elk preserve at Hardware Ranch.

In between, around, and through Northern Utah's cities and mountains are remnants of early pioneer settlements and acres of fertile farmland forming an agricultural base of dairy farming and fruit growing with room left over for an increasing crop of "gentlemen farmers".

Central Utah

The Great Basin Desert is one of Central Utah's most dominant features. On a map, this western portion of the state may lack topographic character, however this view is deceptive.

Small mountain ranges parade in sturdy rows across the basin. Any rivers approaching the area might seem to simply disappear, yet the desert is dotted with waterfowl oases.

To the east, Central Utah jumbles desert with the woodlands and peaks of the Fishlake National Forest creating one of the nation's best back-country trail systems.

Farther east is a series of sheltered valley locations where Mormon pioneers lived, farmed, then often moved on, creating one settlement after another. These towns strung along US 89 southbound have maintained the atmosphere of the late 1800s, and the cultural heritage of their pioneer past. Visitors here may enjoy many restored public buildings and are welcome to explore the quiet, residential streets.

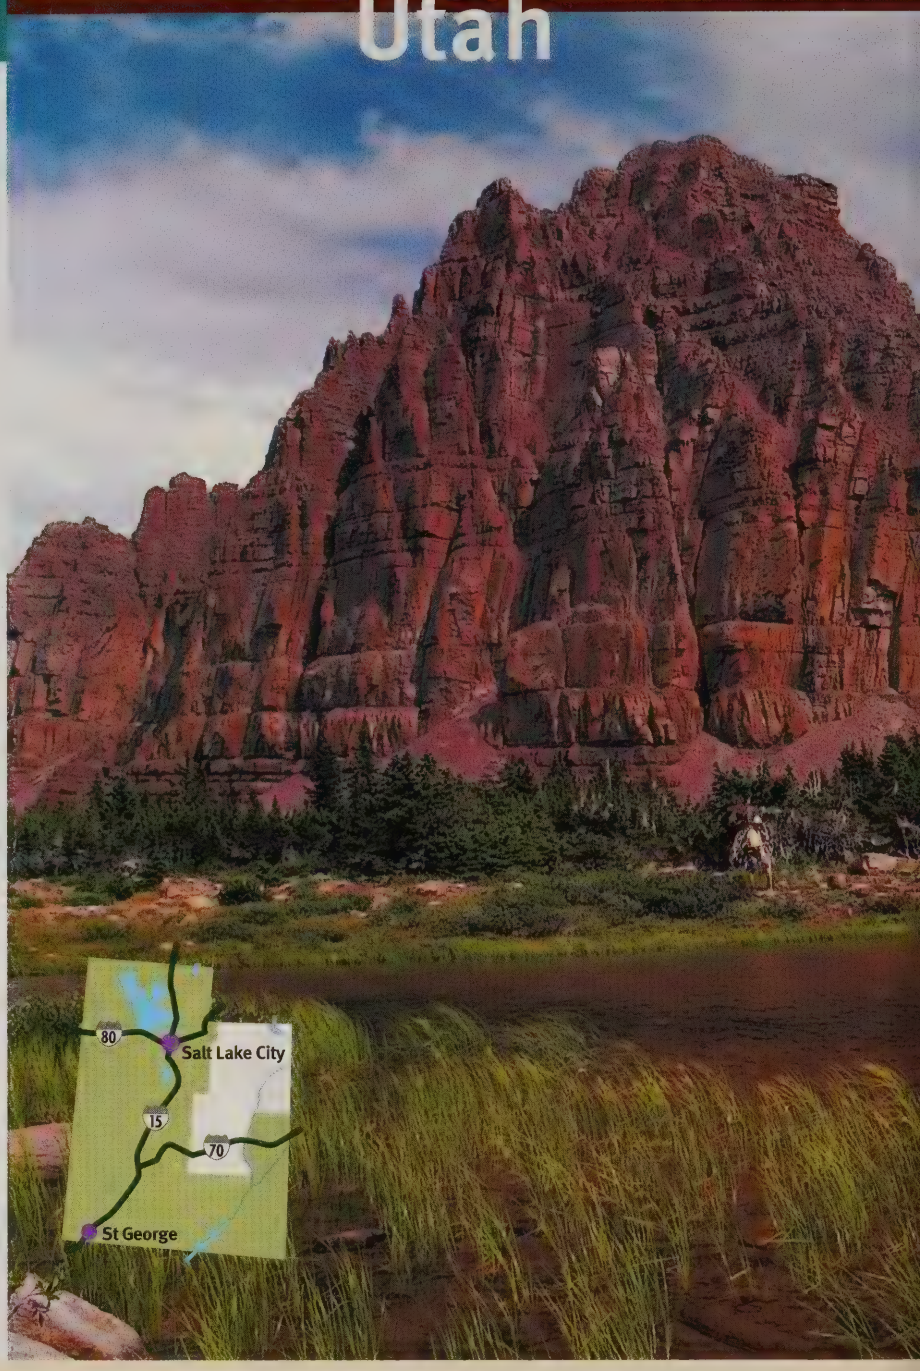
Eastern Utah



Eastern Utah is dominated by the sky-stabbing mountains of the Uinta Range to the north. Including the 456,705-acre High Uintas Wilderness, the Uinta Mountains are replete with craggy peaks, high-elevation lakes, and streams fed by melting snows.

South of the mountains, the Uinta Basin mingles the sovereign lands of the Uintah and Ouray Indian Reservations with farm valleys and tracts of grazing land that seem to stretch forever. To the east, cataclysmic forces have pushed and compressed the earth into odd fields of stone, coal mines, and prehistoric swamps now layered with dinosaur and plant fossils.

Eastern Utah is home to Dinosaur National Monument, as well as Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area, a reservoir created by the dammed flow of the Green River. Below the Flaming Gorge Dam, the Green River winds south on its way to meet the Colorado River.

To the south and west lie vast stretches of uplifts, stone reefs, and eroded swells in a confusion of twisted canyons.

COME STAY & PLAY IN CASTLE COUNTRY!

CASTLE COUNTRY is rich in prehistoric and historic treasures, with world renowned dinosaur quarries, abundant ancient rock art, ghost towns and company coal towns. At the College of Eastern Utah Prehistoric Museum (four blocks east of the Inn) you will find full-sized dinosaur skeletons and a magnificent Colombian Mammoth. Learn about the discovery of the Utah raptor featured in the movie Jurassic Park. After a day of discovery relax in our indoor pool or whirlpool or enjoy the multi- cultural cuisine offered in the community.

Southwestern Utah

The far southwestern corner of the state is sometimes referred to as Utah's "Dixie" because the first Anglo settlers were Mormons sent to take advantage of the area's mild climate by growing cotton. The dress code in St. George and vicinity calls for sweaters all winter.

That's not the case in the entire southwestern part of the state; Zion, Bryce Canyon and Capitol Reef National Parks are each situated at elevations where four seasons and correspondingly varied temperatures are the norm. None-the-less, Southwestern Utah has built a reputation on warm weather and sun-filled skies.

There's a wide variety of scenery to enjoy and diverse landscapes to explore. Even if the summer sun raises temperatures, it's not hard to find someplace that's shady and cool: just walk a little way into a canyon where sandstone cliffs tower above you on both sides or drive toward a mountain until the desert becomes a forest.

Southeastern Utah

The cities and towns in this part of Utah were some of the last to be settled. Though Arches and Canyonlands National Parks have added an element of organization to the area, the land here will never be tamed. Vibrant "red rock" formations are Southeastern Utah's famed element, but there are also acres of broad, rolling sandstone dunes that are salmon, orange, cream, and every variation in between.

The snow-capped La Sal and Abajo Mountains rise like cool mirages above miles of sagebrush flats. Mesas stretch and stack and sometimes drop suddenly into deep crevices or enormous canyons. Lake Powell's bizarre mixture of water and stone forms the western edge of this area. The sacred formations of Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park spread south from Utah into Arizona.

Across Southeastern Utah, the evidence of ancient Pueblo Cultures seems to be everywhere, recognizable in ruins and art pecked and painted on canyon walls.

Utah Campgrounds

Camping options in this diverse state can be anything from mountain sites dotted with wild flowers and edged with aspen, to locations only steps from wide, sandy beaches, and quiet, desert camps under skies blanketed with twinkling stars. Campers may choose from nearly 400 public and private campgrounds throughout Utah. The campground grids that follow have specific campground information. For more information on camping areas, contact the commercial campgrounds directly or call the land management agency as listed that administers the campground.

See the corresponding Cities Sections in this guide and the Utah State Map on page 10 to match map coordinate codes. See Guides & Outfitters Section for information about SuperHost facilites. Call the Utah Travel Council at (800) 200-1160 for more assistance.

Reservations, Fees and Special Passes

Overnight camping and/or day use fees are charged at most of the public campgrounds, based on the facilities at the individual campground. Camping in National Forests, National Parks and Recreation Areas, and on BLM-Administered Land are generally on a first-come, first-served basis. (For large group sites in national parks or national forests, reservations are generally required.) For all State Parks, advance reservations may be made by calling (800) 322-3770, or Salt Lake calling area (801) 322-3770. To make reservations in the National Forests, call (800) 280-2267. If payment is made by major credit card, instant confirmation of the campsite reservation is given. Walk-in applications can be obtained at all state parks and some national forests. A request for a state park mail-in application can be sent to: Utah Division of Parks and Recreation, 1636 W. North Temple, Salt Lake City, UT 84116.

An Annual State Park Permit is available allowing free day-use in all state parks. A Family State Park Permit is also available that allows free day-use in one park. For Utah residents 62 years of age and over or permanently disabled, a free Special Fun Tag allows day-use in all state parks. These permits provide a reduction in camping fees.

National Parks, National Forests, and BLM offer a Golden Age Passport (one-time fee) for U.S. Citizens 62 and older and a free Golden Access Passport for the blind and permanently disabled. Available at the park or agency offices, these passports provide a 50 percent discount on single family campsites where a use fee is charged. They also provide free entry to the National Parks. A Golden Eagle Passport is also available. It allows entrance to national parks and recreation areas for one year.
